

→ * Module : 1

① what is software?

→ software refers to the program and application that tells computer and other devices what to do.

→ It's like the instruction or rules that make your computer or smartphone work the way you want it to.

② what are the types of application?

→ web application

Desktop application

System application.

③ what is programming?

→ programming is the process of instructing a computer to perform specific tasks by providing it with a set of step-by-step instructions.

④ what is python?

→ python is a high level, interpreted programming language known for its simplicity, readability.

→ It supports multiple programming paradigms including procedural, object-oriented and functional programming.